

Hunters and gatherers

Before humans farmed the land they would have lived near woodlands and rivers so that they had access to lots of different types of food.

Traditionally it would have been the women and children who would have gathered wild foods.

The men would have made their own tools like axes and arrows and they would have hunted for wild food.

Can you design a menu for a hunter gather family you can use the examples above but have a think about other wild foods that might have been available?
